SEMBLANCES.

Say not, because you see no tears,
That tears can never flow;
Ah judge not by the light that plays
On many a radiant brow;
For, oh! believe me, hearts can feel
When careless they appear;
And smiling eyes have often smiled
To hide the gathering tear!

I doubt the purity of sighs—
I doubt the strength of tears;
When these are shed before men's eyes,
Those rung into men's ears;
But doubt I not the depth, the truth
Of aching hearts which wear
A smile upon the pallid face,
That none may see the tear!

A BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT.—It was night. Jerusalem slept quietly amid her hills as a child upon the breast of its mother. The noiseless sentinel stood like a statue at his post, and the philosopher's lamp burned dimly in the recesses of his chamber. But a moral darkness involved the nations in its unenlightened shadows. Reason shed a faint glimmering over the minds of men, like the cold and insufficient shinning of a distant star. The immortality of man's spiritual nature was unknown, his relations to Heaven undiscovered, and his future destiny obscured in a cloud of mystery. It was at this period that the two forms of ethereal mould hovered about the land of God's chosen people. They came like sister angels, sent to earth on some embassy of love. The one of majestic statue and well-formed limb, which her snowy drapery scarcely concealed, in her erect bearing and steady eye, exhibiting the highest degree of strength and confidence. Her right arm was extended in an impressive gesture upward, where night appeared to have placed her darkest pavilion, while on her left reclined her delicate companion, in form and countenance the contrast of the other. She was drooping like a flower moistened by refreshing dews, and her bright but troubled eyes scanned them with ardent but varying glances. Suddenly a light flashed out from the Heavens, and Faith and Hope hailed with exulting songs the ascending Star of Bethlehem. Years rolled away and the Stranger was seen at Jerusalem. He was a meek, unassuming man, whose happiness seemed to consist in acts of benevolence to the human race. There were deep traces of sorrow on His countenance, though no one knew why He grieved, for He lived in the practice of every virtue, and was loved by all the good and wise. By and by it was rumored that the Stranger worked miracles; that the blind saw, that the dumb spake, that the dead arose, that the ocean moderated its chafing tide, the very thunder articulated. He is the Son of God. Envy assailed Him unto death. Thickly guarded He slowly ascended the Hill of Calvary. A heavy Cross bent him to the earth. But Faith leaned on His arm, and Hope dipping her pinions in His blood, mounted the skies.

DREAM OF A QUAKER.—There is a beautiful story of a pious old Quaker lady who was addicted to smoking tobacco. She indulged in this habit until it had increased so much upon her, that she not only smoked her pipe a large portion of the day, but frequently sat up in bed for this purpose in the night. After one of these nocturnal entertainments she fell asleep, and dreamed that she died, and approached heaven. Meeting an angel, she asked him if her name was written in the book of life. He disappeared, but replied upon returning that he could not find it. "Oh," she said, "do look again; it must be there." He examined again, but returned with a sorrowful face, saying, "It is not there!" "Oh," said she, in agony, "it must be there; I have the assurance it is there! Do look again." The angel was moved to tears by her entreaties, and again left her to renew his search. After a long absence he came back, his face radiant with joy, and exclaimed: "We have found it, but it was so clouded with tobacco smoke that we could hardly see it!" The woman, upon waking immediately threw her pipe away and never indulged in smoking again.

THE discovery that the brain of a living animal could be frozen, and afterward could recover, was made by Dr. James Arnott, who solidified the brain of a pidgeon by exposing it to a freezing mixture. Here research stopped, because with an ordinary freezing mixture it was not possible to act on individual parts of the organ; but the importance of the discovery is not the less on that account. It was a marvelous revealing. Think what it was! Here was a living organ of mind, a center of power, of all guiding power, of all volition. It took in every motion of the universe to which it was exposed. It took in sound by the ear; sensation and substance by the touch; odor by the nostrils; and taste by the mouth; it gave out in return or response, animal motion, expression—all else that demonstrates a living animal; without it the animal was turned into a mere vegetable. And this organ, the very center and soul of organism, was, by mere physical experiment, for a time made dead—all its powers ice-bound. And this organ, again set free, received its functions back again, and, as we know now by further observation, its functions unimpaired.

ELI BRUCE THE VICTIM OF ANTI-MASONRY. This unfortunate man, whose lot it was to head the column of Masonic martyrs, was born in Massachusetts about the year 1795, and emigrated to Western New York near the age of twenty. At the time of Morgan's disappearance, he was Sheriff of Niagara county, and resided at Lockport. He was accused by Hopkins, his deputy, of having provided a cell for the incarceration of Morgan; and although it is known that individual was not brought to Lockport, yet this fact convicted him, in the minds of an anti-masonic jury, of conspiracy in the abduction of Morgan, and he was sentenced to imprisonment in the jail at Canandagua for the the space of two years and four months. He served his whole time uncomplainingly, amid the sympathy of friends, and died of cholera in September, 1831, after his release. The diary of his sufferings, which he kept while in prison, is in the hands of Mr. Bob Morris, and presents a mournful picture of a noble heart, bowed down with poverty, anguish and captivity.

REVENGED.

ROMANTIC EPISODE IN THE CAREER OF A DETECTIVE.

"I'll tell you of an incident I never reflect on without regret," said Mr. F——, as he turned to the reporter in response to his request for another story.

"The life of a detective is not one of excitement merely. It is sometimes crossed with events as wild and startling as ever gave coloring to romance. No emotion, no passion or phase of character, is hid from us. We learn to play upon feelings, the hates and affections of men and women, as unerringly as the pianist on his instrument. Whilst the casuists would hesitate to take advantage of this, the necessity we are under compels us to omit no opportunity which may lead us to success.

"I say this, because the incident I am about to relate reveals what a woman will do when excited by jealousy and thirsting for revenge.

"We were on the track of a man who had robbed an Havana jeweler of almost incalculable wealth. He had fled to the United States, and we believed, was in the Southern country. At this time New Orleans was full of Cubans and visitors from all parts of the world. One couple, peculiar from the rest, excited the attention of the fashionable world, and became the favored pets of society, which, in New Orleans that Winter was perhaps the most brilliant on the continent. Their lavish expenditures, and almost Eastern magnificence of apparel and equipage excited the admiration and envy, it may be, of their fashionable acquaintance. They, too, were Cubans. The man, inheriting all the peculiarities of the Spaniard, was, in personal appearance, a type of his race. But I cannot describe to you the woman that passed for his wife. She was the most beautiful creature I ever saw. The ideal of the poet, when he painted the dark-eyed maiden of Khorassan, was realized in her person. She seemed to me like some living, beautiful idol for men to worship. The tint of the olive was on her face and brow, and in the dark, luminous eyes a wealth of affection; but they told, too, of a spirit resentful of injustice, and fearce in wrath as the glare of her native sun.

"By the devious paths we pursued, when on the trail of the criminal, we traced 'our man" to the city. We knew he was here, and we searched for him incessantly. But, as if to baulk our exertions and put to shame our efforts, this was all we could learn. The Spaniard was the only person who answered the description of the criminal. But what folly to suspect him! the petted courtier of society—the millionaire—he would have laughed our suspicion to scorn. But still we hung around him. By a strange magical influence it was impossible to divorce ourseles from the belief that he was the party we were in search of. This constant attendance at the places he frequented, this hovering around the sphere in which he moved, made us at last acquainted with the fact that his wife was unhappy and ill-treated by her husband. He had begun to neglect her, and pay assiduous court to a fashionable belle. One night we saw him enter the theatre with a fair American, and entering a private box, was paying her the most devoted attention. Shortly afterwards a woman, whom we at once perceived to be his wife, but evidently disguised, entered, and passing around the dress-circle took a seat directly facing him.

"By a strange coincidence she was right by me. She looked at the couple in the box long and earnestly; her face, which we could see from our position, gradually changing to an expression of the most fearful and vindictive passion I ever beheld. Accustomed as I was to every phase of human emotion, it appalled me. At last she arose and left the theatre, followed by attendant. Now was our time. I got up quietly and was by her side when she reached the street. I was determined on a stoke of policy, which, if I read her countenance aright, would place the man in our power. If I was mistaken it could do no harm. Actuated by this impulse, I placed myself in front of her and raised my hat.

"Madam, pardon me."

"What do you wish, sir, and who are you?"

"My name is F——. This is my friend, Mr. I——. We are detectives, and in search of the robber of the Havana jewels. We believe you can point out to us the man."

"I can, I can!" It was almost a shriek, so fierce and bitter hissed the words. "Come with me, come with me!"

It is useless to detail what followed. The next morning the fashionable world was shocked by the intelligence of the arrest of Don C—— R——, but still more surprising that he was betrayed by his wife. We recovered nearly $100,000 in jewelry and gold. But to the poor woman the result was terrible. She was but the victim of his perfidy; but the moment she saw him arrested all of the old love that had ruined her, returned. She clung to his neck with a wild, frantic despair that was terrible to see. The anguish of the young face will haunt me to my dying day. The next day she disappeared, no one knew whither; but the day afterwards the body of a beautiful unknown woman was picked up on the lower coast, a suicide.—[New Orleans Picayune.

DAY SLEEPERS.—The Virginia City Safeguard says: There is perhaps no place in the United States with an equal number of inhabitants, where there is so much day day sleeping as in Virginia City. Take the miners employed in our mines on the night watch, and add to these the "sports" and "fancy" generally, and it will be found that fully one-fifth of our adult population do not rise before 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon. In this age of steam and electricity the leaders of the "ton," too, seldom make their appearance before 9, and many of them not until 11 A. M. This, of course, is a decided improvement on the old fogyism of "our grandfathers" days, and we suppose, therefore, that it is right. It is not unusual, in fact a common occurrence, to meet people as late as 7 or 8 o'clock in the evening who salute you with "Good morning, sir," "How are you this morning?" etc. We expect it will soon be fashionable not to get up until the next day.

WHY should a chimney-sweeper be a good whist-player? Because he is always following soot.

AN INCIDENT OF THE MASQUERADE.—The following incident of the Masquerade at the Pavilion is related to us by a gentleman who vouches for its authenticity: Mr. —— was entreated by his wife to attend, as she had never witnessed a masquerade, and had the natural curiosity of the sex to participate "just once." He, however, pleaded urgent business in Sacramento, and positively refused to gratify his fairer half. On Wednesday afternoon he left home, telling his wife that he would not be back until the following day. He had no sooner gone than she set about making preparations to attend the ball, and in the evening, attended by her brother, was present. Her magnificent carriage attracted a great deal of attention from the gentlemen present, who followed her about in squads. One man made most desperate love to her, saying that he had never before met a woman who so completely filled his eye, or one he had loved at first sight. The wife had immediately detected her erring lord, and determined to punish him for his deceit, led him on by those arts which ladies know so well how to use. She coquetted with him, until he really imagined that she was the most lovable woman he had ever met with. At length he entreated her to take supper with him, but she pleaded "no appetite." He urged so strongly, however, that she finally agreed to sup with him, if he would accompany her to her own house and order it there. She at the same time informed him that her husband was absent from home, and that he need have no fear of being interrupted in their tete a tete. They took a carriage, and while getting into it the lady whispered to the driver, who, saying "All right—I understand," closed the door, mounted the seat, and drove off. After a ride of half an hour, during which the gentleman endeavored ineffectually to obtain a kiss from his fair companion, they reached their destination, and dismounted. The moment they touched the pavement the husband recognized the surroundings, and said, "Why, d—n it, Madame, this is my own house!" "Yes, Thomas, and I am your own wife," replied the wife, "come in, and we will have supper." He entered the house, and whether he got a good hauling over the coals or not our informant could not tell us.—[S. F. Call.

A TALE OF LOVE.—One quiet day in leafy June, when bees and birds were all in tune, two lovers walked beneath the moon. The night was fair—so was the maid—they walked and talked beneath the shade, with none to harm or make afraid. Her name was Sue and his was Jim, and he was fat and she was slim; he took to her and she to him. Says Jim to Sue—"By all the snakes that squirm among the brush and brakes, I love you better'n buckwheat cakes." Says Sue to Jim—"Since you've begun it, and been and come and gone and done it, I like you next to a new bonnit." Says Jim to Sue—"My heart you've busted; but I have always gals mistrusted." Says Sue to Jim—"I will be true; if you love me as I love you, no knife can cut our love in two." Says Jim to Sue—"Through thick and thin, for your true forever count me in; I'll court no other gal ag'in." Jim leaned to Sue, Sue leaned to Jim; his nose just touched her jockey brim, four lips met—went—ahem! ahem! And then—and then—and THEN—and THEN! Oh! gals beware of men in June, and underneath the silver moon, when frogs and crickets are in tune, lest your names get in the papers soon!

THE ENGLISH HARVESTS.—James Caird, so well known as the 'Times' Commissioner, from having been employed by that paper to examine into the agricultural condition of England at the time of the repeal of the Corn laws, has recently written a letter on the English harvest of 1868. Caird estimates that the wheat crop has been nearly equal to that of 1864, but is not of as good a quality as the crop of 1863. The yield has been at the rate of thirty-two bushels an acre, or five above the yearly average. Mr. Caird anticipates that England will pay $75,000,000 less for foreign wheat than last year, but says that there is a deficiency of $50,000,000 in value of barley and oats, while the hay and green crops were nearly annihilated by the protracted drought. In the growth of potatoes there is an increase of eighty thousand acres, and the crop will be of an average character.

THE new seal of Illinois was adopted and put into use by the Secretary of State on the 26th ultimo, just fifty years and two months after the day on which the State was admitted into the Union. This seal is admirably executed, after the original design, as adopted for the State coat of arms, viz: Eagle on a bowlder in the prairie, rising sun in the distant horizon, in beak of eagle a scroll with words, "State Sovereignty—National Union." The shield is introduced as adopted by the original thirteen States, and behind the shield is a branch of laurel.

CENSURE.—Censure, says an ingenious author, is the tax a man pays to the public for being eminent. It is folly for an eminent man to think of escaping it, and a weakness to be affected with it. All the illustrious persons of antiquity, and indeed of every age in the world, have passed through this fiery persecution. There is no defence against reproach but obscurity; it is a kind of concomitant to greatness, as satires and invectives were an essential part of a Roman triumph.

HIGH ADVERTISING.—The Vallejo Chronicle of the 20th ult., gives the following new style of advertising: "To-morrow, at half-past 4 P. M., the Arnold Brothers will send up a paper balloon of sixteen feet in height, and twelve feet in diameter. Five hundred circulars are attached, and are so arranged that after they have been up several minutes they will be scattered broadcast over the country.

"WHEN a stranger treats me with want of proper respect," said a philosophic poor man, "I comfort myself with the reflection that it is not myself he slights, but my old shabby coat and hat, which, to say the truth, have no particular claims to admiration. So if my hat and coat choose to fret about it, let them; it is nothing to me."

WHAT is the next thing to hen-stealing? Why, cock robin, of course.

Letter from Buckeye.

BUCKEYE, Dec. 1, 1868.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT: While our minds are engrossed with politics and earthquakes, time rolls on apace—his progress little effected by political or physical excitement. We can scarcely realize the fact that the last month of 1868 is upon us, yet it is true, and it finds us, in a political point of view, in just about as contradictory state as the month of December ever found a people. We have a flag with thirty-six stars, each star representing a State, still we have less than thirty-six States. We have a Constitution, by which the laws of the Government are to be administered, and which says that each State shall regulate its franchise. We have legislators who take a solemn oath to enact laws in conformity with that Constitution, and yet we see those same legislators regulating the franchise of the States, without the consent of the people.

It is fairly conceded that the Democratic party has been defeated; that Grant is the "coming man," and since smoke, as well as straws, shows which way the wind blows, we look with interest to each wreath that ascends from his cigar. Since he will have no will of his own, we will not yet thus early risk an assertion as to whose opinion he will borrow during his administration.

We rejoice that an appreciative people have said "well done" to Hon. J. A. Johnson, by returning him to the seat in Congress he has hitherto filled so ably. I presume that by this time Chancellor Hartson has had enough of Congressional aspirations. Doubtless he feels that

"'Tis sad to see a hero fall,
'Tis sad to see a friend's defection;
Sad is Salt River unto all,
But doubly sad—a lost election.'

GUILIELMUS.

ACROSS THE RIVER.—Washington, our vis a vis, has been a real Rip Van Winkle. In eighteen years she has improved so little that that little is scarcely worth naming. She did not go back, however, like many of the towns of California; she had not much at first, and in this regard has held her own manfully. The progress of events begin to push her forward. The locomotive has waked her to life, and it may be that as Sacramento grows Washington shall grow also.

By the middle of the week after next, that is ten or twelve days hence, the railroad will be graded through the tules or within a mile of Washington; and that remaining mile is covered deep with sand, washed there by the flood of last Winter, and can be worked at any time. The Railroad Company have purchased Minis' Hotel at the west end of the Sacramento bridge, and have hired Dr. Taylor's big house close by. This latter will be raised, and both will be used as boarding houses.

The Company have also leased a block of land, the third from the river, belonging to the heirs of Griffith, with the privilege of purchasing when they attain their majority. Here will be the machine shops and perhaps storehouses of the Company. The mile of road between the tules and Washington will be subject to danger from the overflow of the Sacramento, and will probably have to be carried over that distance on trestle work. The Washingtonians think of building a levee at the crevasses, and if so, the railroad people will help them, as it will benefit them as well as others. Another year or two may see Washington quite a lively place.

The Vallejo railroad runs into Washington now, but it crosses the tules on rails laid on the surface, so that when the floods come the present track will be impassable; but the Company hope to have the grade ready for the rails before the floods shall overtake them.—[Bee.

ABOLITIONISM.—The Ohio Crisis thus sketches Abolitionism in a nutshell: "The Abolitionists, pretending to love liberty, have extended slavery. Calling themselves Unionists, they have consumated and maintained disunion. Affecting economy, they have given us the costliest government on the earth. Prating of virtue, they have made it the most corrupt. Clamorous for equal rights, they proscribe more people than any monarchy in Christendom. Invoking freedom, they establish and maintain the darkest despotism in eleven States. Professing toleration, they proclaim acceptance of their creed the alternative of ostracism and disfranchisement. Howling about purifying the Government, they have made dishonesty and office-holding identical. Preaching principle, they subsist by passion and by prejudice. Deploring caste, they elevate blacks above whites in one-third of the country. Magnifying loyalty, they have trampled out every worthy principle in our system. Claiming statesmanship, their officials are either conspirators or thieves. Lauding independence, they are servile slaves to a party caucus. Pretending to invite criticism, they stifle freedom of debate in Congress by partisan rules, and drown it elsewhere in blood. Insisting upon peace, they prolong the old war and strive to stir up a new one. They have made an anarchy, and called it peace. Pretension without sincerity is their programme, to be carried out by tyranny. Their creed is hypocrisy, their plea is cant, their practice is theft, their end despotism."

WHITE PINE FEVER.—Companies are forming in different portions of the State with the intention of taking up their abode in the White Pine District.

SUIT.—Attorney General Hamilton has commenced suit against the Builders' Insurance Company for failure to comply with the law.

HOPS.—It has been estimated that a profit of $600 per acre may be realized from the cultivation of hops in this state.

OLIVE.—The cultivation of the olive is receiving considerable attention in the lower counties.

Our Prospects.

Now that we are entering upon that season of the year which is universally regarded with anxious solicitude, it may be well to consider what are its promises, and prepare ourselves to abide its realities. While it is difficult for us to realize that Winter is upon us, the people of other portions of the land have already felt the chilling blasts of the storm king and are shivering in their "winter of discontent." Alternate sunshine and warm rains have been enjoyed throughout the State, and the hills and valleys are covered with green. We are indeed realizing a foretaste of that happy condition of affairs which poets ascribe to a better land, where "December's as pleasant as May." The year 1868, now in the "sear and yellow leaf," has been one of paramount prosperity; not a blight or even a partial failure has occured in the culture and growth of a single staple product in the State, or indeed on the Pacific Coast, worthy of mention. Books have been written and poets have been profuse in their commendation of "the land of gold;" but not many years ago few dared to risk their reputation in expressing an opinion that the land would ever be made to yield a harvest to any except the adventurous gold hunter, or that its agricultural and horticultural resources would one day (as they now do) attract the attention and command the admiration of the world. If such great and important changes have been wrought in the past twenty years, what may not we expect within the same period in the future? The many advantages gained over the tedious, uncertain and dangerous modes of travel and communication to which, in former years, we have been subjected, the convincing proof of the unparalleled richness of soil and salubrity of climate, of which we may be justly proud, all combined, will wield a mighty influence in increasing the population and developing the immense resources of wealth which must reward the energy and industry of a thriving people. In view of the favorable prospects ahead, the present farming season will undoubtedly be one of unusual activity. Thousands of acres, heretofore uncultivated, will yield to the plow and harrow, and contribute to the increased demand for the products of the soil. It is gratifying to know that our own county is keeping pace with the most favored portions of the State in developing her resources, and should the present season prove as favorable as the last, we predict a larger and richer harvest next summer than has ever been gathered here.

BALLOU'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE.—The December number of this popular Magazine is received. We find it filled with that charming variety of illustration and interesting letter-press so well calculated to keep it at the head of the cheap Magazines of the country. Shillaber treats us to one of his most musical illustrated poems; Mrs. Edson closes her interesting serial, "A Woman's Error;" William L. Williams gives the young folks an exciting story, while Jane G. Austin, James Franklin Fitts, Catharine Earnshaw, W. H. Macy, N. P. Darling and several other writers of more or less note furnish each a capital story or poem. The humorous pictures are uncommonly good, embracing four different subjects, illustrated by six engravings designed by Rogers.

The publishers announce for 1869 a new serial by the charming Miss Camilla William, also an original story for boys and girls, to run through the year, by Horatio Alger, Jr., one of the most popular writers for the young. They also promise increased attractions in stories and illustrations, for the coming year, over those of any previous one. As their promises have been more than performed in the past, we have reason to believe they will continue to be in the future, though it is difficult to see how Ballou can be much improved over its present excellence. It is sent to subscribers at $1 50 per year, or in clubs for $1 25. Elliott, Thomes & Talbot, Publishers, Boston, Mass.

UP AND AT 'EM.—But a few months, says the Napa Reporter, will intervene before Californians will enter upon another campaign. Our State election for Legislative members will take place in September next, and in the month following a Supreme Judge is to be chosen; California is Democratic, as can easily be demonstrated. With a very weak ticket, and Grant's popularity, the Democrats were only beaten on the electoral ticket by say 500 votes. On the Congressional vote we carry the State by 1,000 majority—clearly proving that we yet control the political destinies of our young commonwealth. This being so, it is clearly the duty of Democrats to at once begin the work of re-organization. We know our truest and most vigilant members—let us select none others for the work before us. We must have no drones in the hive—we must have our best workers in the lead. Democrats, keep up your clubs; yes, and organize others. We must retain control of the Legislature, and elect another Supreme Judge in October. Up, boys, and at 'em.

BONDHOLDERS made their purchases at fifty cents on the dollar. Their investments pay them, therefore, twelve per cent. in gold, equal to fifteen per cent. in currency. They are exempt from taxation, and thus gather very nearly twenty per cent. on the price of blood. Senator Henderson says that they interposed to delay reconstruction, their purpose being to prevent the possibility of the speedy extentions of the funded debt of the country. They would now make the five-twenties run through forty years, and thus make their children the hereditary aristocracy of America. To perfect this scheme the States must be consolidated and the Union converted into an empire.

MAN LOST.—Last week a party of hunters were out in the San Lorenzo mountains, when one of their number, W. H. Smith, strayed away from camp and is supposed to be lost. Parties have made search for him, but without success.

PREVENTIVE MEASURES.—An evening contemporary has persistently insisted that vaccination is a sure preventive against the so-called small-pox epidemic now raging in the city. Its assertions to this effect are made in the face of two noteworthy facts: First, that very many who have been vaccinated have taken the disease in its very worst form, while many who have not been vaccinated, and have lived much exposed to it, have escaped contamination. Second, that notwithstanding vaccination has been increased greatly during the last month, the disease has increased in equal proportion. Vaccination may be a preventive to a certain degree, but experience does not prove such to be the case; yet the facts are, as we have before stated, that disinfection will prevent its spread. Carbonic acid, diluted in sixty parts of water to one of the acid, sprinkled upon the clothing once or twice a day, will prevent an individual taking the disease. A little of the pure acid, say one-fourth of an ounce, kept in a vial, stopped with a common cork, and set in a room, will keep the disease out of the room. From three to six of such vials, scattered through a dwelling, will keep the disease out. This disinfecting remedy is almost certain to prevent the spread of the disease. It costs but little to apply the remedy, and all should resort to it; for, in addition to its almost certain efficacy, it can do no harm. Vaccination cannot be relied upon, and, therefore, disinfection should be generally resorted to. At least nine-tenths of the people of the city are now vaccinated, yet the small-pox is increasing faster than ever. That bare fact should induce people to resort to the other remedy—disinfection—which, wherever tried, has proven effective in preventing contamination. A very little expense and a little care on the part of the head of each household in the city will contribute greatly to put a period to the present epidemic.—[Call.

SEEING IS DECEIVING.—Here is a row of ordinary capital letters and figures:

SSSS XXXX ZZZZ 33338888

They are such as are made up of two parts of equal shapes. Look carefully at these and you will perceive that the upper halves of the characters are very little smaller than the lower halves—so little that an ordinary eye will declare them to be of equal size. Now turn the page upside down, and without any careful looking, you will see that this difference in size is very much exaggerated—that the real top half of the letter is very much smaller than the bottom half. It will be seen from this that there is a tendency in the eye to enlarge the upper part of any object upon which it looks. We might draw two circles of unequal size, and so place them that they should appear equal.—[Exchange.

LICENTIOUSNESS AND IMMORALITY.—The increase of licentiousness in this country is pronounced to be very great, and the late civil war pronounced to be most prolific cause of this. The clergy and boasted philanthrophists who believe in war and who are ready to get up another, if need be, in vindication of their extreme opinions, will please take notice. Preaching politics in the pulpit also has driven people beyond the good influences of religion, and in turn into the vortex of the world. The most popular social education for some years, both from the pulpit and the forum, has the law of personal, social and sectional hate, and the wonder is, with so many radical preachers and teachers, immorality is not even greater than we see it.—[Capital Reporter.

THE RESULT.—Secretary Nichols issued certificates of election to the Grant Electors on Tuesday last. The average majority of the whole Grant ticket is 506.

GRAIN.—The latest market reports at San Francisco quote wheat at from $1 75 to $1 80. Barley, $2 to $2 25. Oats, $1 60 to $1 90.

ELECTRO SILICON.—This curious and valuable substance is confidently claimed to be the BEST ARTICLE ever discovered for cleaning and polishing Gold, Silver and Plated Ware, and all smooth metallic surfaces, of whatever description, including kitchen utensils of tin, copper, brass, steel, etc.

TO HEADS OF FAMILIES.—Are your little ones subject to croup? If so, don't fail to use NEWELL'S PULMONARY SURUP. A few doses given in time MAY SAVE THE LIFE OF A DARLING CHILD. Do not fail to have it on hand, if you would be safe and free from anxiety.

Sheriff's Sale of Land.

BY virtue of a foreclosure, judgment and decree rendered in the District Court of the 6th Judicial District, Yolo county, California, on the 17th day of November, 1868, in favor of Cyrus Barnes, plaintiff, and against Vincent Barnes, defendant, for the sum of $2,339 89 and interest, in gold coin, and costs of suit taxed at $44 25, and the costs thereafter to accrue; and by virtue of the order of sale issued in pursuance of said judgment, I am commanded and directed to sell, to satisfy said judgment, the following described lands, to wit: Certain lands lying and being situate in said county, commencing at a point on the western boundary line of the Rancho Canada de Capay, where said line is intersected by the division line between Arnold & Gillig and Rhodes, running thence east on said division line four hundred and eighty-four rods to a stake; thence north ninety-six rods to a stake; thence west five hundred and twenty-seven rods to the western boundary line of said Rancho Canada de Capay; thence south-easterly to said last mentioned boundary line, to the place of beginning, containing 300 acres. In obedience to said order, I will, on SATURDAY,.....DECEMBER 26, 1868,

At 12 o'clock M., offer said land for sale at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in hand, in gold coin, at the Court House door, in the town of Woodland, to satisfy said judgment and decree, and all costs.

HARD ON CONNESS.—The Santa Clara News says:

Eugene Casserly has gone to Washington. He will take the Senatorial seat of pompous little Conness on the 4th of next March. Casserly will be among the ablest of Senators, and will do credit to the State. He has a virtue which "the member from El Dorado" has not; he will talk only when he has something to say, and will not seek for fame in proportion to the number of times his name may appear in the Congressional Globe.

The Chicago Tribune contains the following:

The next Congress will contain among its new representatives, notably, General Nagle and Dan Voorhies, and among the new Senators Judge Thurman, a new face from Indiana, and a new one from Pennsylvania. Conness will depart—another loss of familiar noise; he was one of the articulate pomposities who were released upon public life by the bullet that killed Broderick. Out of the lion crawled an inordinate number of little beings, each claiming to be a part of him.

THE first child born in Grass Valley is still there; and what's more, she is now a young lady.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.

The only Known Remedy

—FOR—

Diabetes, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, Inflamation of the Kidneys, Catarrh of the Bladder, &c., &c., &c.

For these diseases, it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. Are you troubled with that disgusting pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful a day of Helmbold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others

PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubebs and Juniper Berries, selected with care, prepared in vacuo and according to the rules of Pharmacy and Chemistry.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded. A Diuretic is that which acts upon the Kidneys. Helmbold's Extract Buchu acts gently. It is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its action. For the satisfaction of all, see Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:

"BUCHU. Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, chronic catarrh of the Bladder, morbid irritation of the Bladder and Urethra, diseases of the Prostrate, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, chronic Rheumatism, cutaneous affections and Dropsy."

For further information see Professor Dewees' valuable works on the Practice of Physic. See remarks made by the celebrated Dr. Physic, of Philadelphia. See any and all standard works on Medicine.

Dr. Keyser is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical college and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia:

Mr. H. T. HELMBOLD—Dear Sir: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys; and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts. I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves, the simple decoction, tincture fluid extracts; and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Eighteen years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits, and without prejudice or partiality I give yours precedence over all others. I value your Buchu for its effects on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu, or any other proprietory compound of whatever name. Respectfully yours, etc.,

GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D., 140 Wood st.
Pittsburg, Pa., August 11, 1865.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupies the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. WM. WEIGHTMAN, (firm of Powers & Weightman), Manufacturing chemists, Ninth and Brown streets, Phila.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are genuine preparations, and knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery, or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physicians' simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare Pharmaceutical preparations. These parties resort to various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies and finishing with certificates. The science of medicine stands simple, pure and majestic, having fact for its basis, induction for its pillar, truth alone for its capital.

A Word of Caution.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT ON A LADY.—A correspondent, writing to the DEMOCRAT from Buckeye, says: "Quite an unusual occurrence happened in this vicinity, on the ranch of Thomas Wiley, about four miles west of Buckeye, on Thursday last. The ranch is cultivated by Thomas Fairfield, who resides there with his sister. About ten o'clock in the forenoon, while the men were in the field, a stranger came to the house and requested something to eat, when the lady requested him to wait until the men returned at noon. He replied that he would go to the next house, meaning Mr. Wiley's, about a quarter of a mile distant, but instead of doing so, he went in another direction across the hills. The next afternoon, about three o'clock, he re-appeared, accompanied by two other men. Two of them halted at the fence, while the other approached the lady. He had a note in one hand and a rope in the other, offering her the former, which she declined receiving, and becoming frightened, fled into the house. As she ran, the man fired two pistol shots at her, striking her dress each time, but fortunately doing no further harm. As soon as Mr. Fairfield heard of it he started in pursuit of the men, and by the tracks of their horses, followed them about ten miles, but without getting a sight of them. They went across the hills in a south-westerly direction. Of course there are suspicions indulged in as to who these parties are, but prudence forbids my saying more upon the subject at present."

COLLECTION OF TAXES.—For several weeks past Sheriff Minis and his deputies have been actively engaged in collecting taxes due on property in this county, and it appears from the records that they have been eminently successful. Mr. Minis made his final settlement for the year 1868 with the Treasurer and Auditor, on the 2d inst., and has their receipts for the total amount charged to him. Such prompt action on the part of our officials in a matter that generally requires much more time, is worthy of commendation. The taxes assessed in the several Districts appear on the rolls in amounts as follows: First District, $7,608 13; Second District, $18,769 13; Third District, $35,424 78; Fourth District, $24,037 46; Dog tax, $645. Total, $86,484 46. Of this amount $5,215 44 was collected by the Assessors. The reduction by the Board of Equalization amounts to $375 04, and there appears on the delinquent tax list the sum of $5,209 28. The balance, $75,684 70, has been paid in by the Sheriff to the Treasurer and forwarded by the latter to the State Treasurer at Sacramento.

IT is said that Calisaya Bark has a peculiar effect upon the liver, and guards the system against disease by exposure and irregular diet. It is conceded that the great success of the wonderful PLANTATION BITTERS, which, previous to our late unhappy difficulties, was found in most Southern homes, was owing to the extract of Calisaya Bark which it contained as one of the principle ingredients. In confirmation of this we have heard one of our distinguished Physicians remark, that whenever he felt unwell from ordinary dietetic or atmospheric causes, he invariably relieved himself by PLANTATION BITTERS. We speak advisedly when we say that we know it to be the best and most popular medicine in the world

DAVISVILLE.—A correspondent of the Capital Reporter, who has recently visited Yolo county, speaks of one of our towns as follows: "Davisville is a new town, located at the point where the railroad from Sacramento is to form its junction with one from Marysville, both leading to Vallejo. It is but a few months old, and yet contains forty or fifty houses, with many more in course of construction. A large warehouse has been erected by Mr. Dresbach, 150 by 300 feet, which is completely filled with grain, waiting shipment. From the large amount of wheat raised, and the thrift of the farmers in the vicinity, we predict for Davisville a very prosperous future."

ENERGY.—The disastrous fire which occurred two weeks ago in the dry goods establishment of Henry Aronson, so damaged the entire stock that the proprietor found it necessary to dispose of it at a great sacrifice. This was accomplished in a few days and the store thoroughly refitted and filled with a new stock of fine goods. Such a spirit of enterprise is worthy of notice. Aronson is at his post with more attractive bargains to offer than ever before.

GOOD BARGAINS.—The citizens of Buckeye and vicinity are laying in their winter's stock of dry goods, groceries, etc. They find no difficulty in obtaining good bargains at Harling, Welch & Co's. The reason is plain. The firm is composed of business men who appreciate the necessity of advertising their goods, and reap the benefits thereof.

VALUATION OF PROPERTY.—The valuation of taxable property in the respective Assessor's Districts in the county appears on the Auditor's books as follows: First District, $310,535; Second District, $766,089; Third District, $1,287,990; Fourth District, $981,121. Total valuation of taxable property in the county $3,345,733.

HORSE STEALING.—A horse was stolen from a farmer residing a few miles from town, on Wednesday night. A paper collar, one of the latest style, was dropped in the yard by the tastidious thief. It is to be hoped that ere this he has substituted a hempen rope for the lost collar.

DIORAMIC VIEWS.—An exhibition of Dioramic Views of the heavenly bodies will be given by E. J. Schellhous, at Cacheville, this evening, for the benefit of the Cacheville School Library. The exhibition will no doubt be entertaining, and as the purpose is a laudable one we predict a crowded house.

SPORT.—A crowd armed with sticks and stones, the other morning, made a furious assault on a hare which had left his accustomed haunts and attempted to take a stroll down Main street. The terrified animal run the gauntlet and escaped injury.

RE-ESTABLISHED.—Nathan Elliott, who has recently returned from the Atlantic States, has purchased Hall's drug business and thoroughly refitted the establishment. The long experience of the present proprietor in that line of business will insure his success.

NEW STEAMER.—Chin Du Wan is the name of a new stern wheel steamer recently placed on the route between Sacramento and Knight's Landing and Colusa. She is said to be a good boat and well officered.

HARNESS STEALING.—One night last week while Daniel Fisher and family were absent from home, some thief entered his barn and purloined some valuable harness.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.—The ranch and stock of Thomas Barnes, four miles southwest from Woodland, will be sold at auction to-day.

BUILDING.—Quite a number of buildings are rapidly approaching completion in town.

COURT HOUSE.—The settling of the Court House and the shaking it received by the October earthquake has considerably damaged the building. We believe, under the circumstances, that the Board of Supervisors would be perfectly justified in employing a competent architect to examine the condition of the building and superintend necessary repairs. The tax-payers can much better afford to pay what may now be required for this purpose than to foot a much heavier bill that might accrue in consequence of delay.

DEATH OF A STRANGER.—In the early part of the week a young man was brought to the hospital in a helpless condition. He had been suffering for some time from a severe attack of typhoid fever, and when brought to the hospital his case was considered hopeless, and although kindly cared for by those in whose charge he had been placed, as well as visitors who called in, he died on Wednesday morning. The name of the deceased was Nathan S. Taft, age 23 years, and a native of Vermont.

GENEROUS DONATION.—At a meeting in the new Christian Church last Sunday, a proposition was made to take up a collection for the purpose of liquidating a part of the debt on the new building, the debt being about five hundred dollars. In a few minutes the sum of $516 50 in cash was contributed, enough to pay off the debt and leave a small balance in the treasury.

PROTRACTED MEEING.—The protracted meeting which has been in session two or three weeks at the Christian Church, closed on Wednesday evening. The meeting was well attended throughout. The exercises were conducted by able ministers and considerable interest was taken in the preceedings. Quite a number joined the church and have entered upon their duties as Christians.

CHILD ATTACKED BY A HOG.—A few days since a little son of Ed. Howard, residing near Buckeye, went into a barn-yard where a number of sows and pigs were kept. The little fellow attempted to administer a chastisement to one of the pigs, when he was furiously attacked by its mother and very severely bitten.

ADMINISTERED.—The ordnance of baptism was administered by Elder J. N Pendegast, on Sunday last, to eleven persons who had recently made confession of their sins. The interesting exercises were conducted on Cache creek near Nelson's bridge. A large crowd was in attendance.

CLOTHING.—Citizens of Yolo visiting Sacramento for outfits, will do well to call on John Suverkrup, corner of K and Third streets. See advertisement.

CHANGED HANDS.—The Woodland House changed hands to-day. M. Furniss is the new landlord. Furniss knows how to keep hotel.

REAL ESTATE.—Transactions in real estate have been lively this week. C. S. Frost, agent, is doing a good business.

REMOVAL.—Dr. G. H. Jackson has removed his office to the building opposite the Hunter House.

STOP THAT COUGHING.

Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the ONE destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of coughs, colds, sore throat, Asthma, Whooping-cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefitted by the surprising curative powers of

Newell's Pulmonary Syrup,

and with one accord give it their unqualified approbation. We now address ourselves to all who are unacquainted with this, the greatest Panacea of the age, for the healing of all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, assuring you that has cured thousands, and it will cure YOU if you try it.

This invaluable medicine is pleasant to the taste; soothing, healing and strengthening in its effects; entirely free from all poisonous or deleterious drugs, and perfectly harmless under all circumstances.

Certificates from many prominent citizens of San Francisco accompany every bottle of REDINGTON & CO.'S ESSENCE OF JAMAICA GINGER!

This valuable preparation, containing in a highly concentrated form all the properties of Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies for all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.

As a tonic, it will be found invaluable to all persons recovering from debility, whether produced by fever, or otherwise; for while it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by wine or brandy, it is entirely free from the reactionary effects that follow the use of spirits of any kind.

It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany that period.

It gives immediate relief to Nausea, caused by riding in a railroad car, or by sea-sickness, or other causes.

It is also valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc.

The Dividends of the Mutual Life are paid on the 1st of February, each year!

And can be used in reduction of the second payment. Policy-holders do not have to wait three or four years before they get a dividend, as in the "Continental" and other Companies.

All the Profits of this Company are Divided Amongst the Policy-Holders!!

There are no stock-holders to get the largest share of its profits, as in the "Continental," "North America," "Manhattan," and other credit Companies. Beware of part Note and Credits! See what the following Companies owe on (useless) Premium Notes: Continental, organized in 1866, $275,336 44; New England, organized in 1844, $1,843,497 84; North Western, organized in 1859, $625,292. Some of these Companies have lately assumed the grave and questionable responsibility of advertising under their officers' signatures that their notes or loans would be offset by dividends. (See Barnes' Report for 1868.) In order to cancel their notes by dividends, they would have to assess their Policy-holders from 40 to 77 per cent.

The Reasons for Insuring

—IN THE—

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL Life Insurance Company,

OF BOSTON.

By the Acts of Massachusetts, incorporated into the General Statutes of 1860 and 1864, a Policy of Life Insurance for the benefit of a Married Woman, or any person or persons specified, goes to them independently of the debts and liabilities of the party who effects the policy.

An Act to Regulate the Forfeiture of Policies of Life Insurance.

Be it Enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1.—No Policy of Insurance on Life, hereafter issued by any Company chartered by the authority of this Commonwealth, shall be forfeited or become void by the non-payment of premium thereon, any further than regards the right of the party insured therein to have it continued in force beyond a certain period, to be determined as follows, to-wit: The net value of the policy, when the premium becomes due and is not paid, shall be ascertained, according to the "combined experience" or "actuaries'" rate of mortality, with interest at four per cent. per annum. After deducting from such net value any indebtedness to the company or notes held by the company against the insured, which notes if given for premium shall then be canceled, four-fifths of what remains shall be considered as a net single premium of temporary insurance, and the term for which it will insure shall be determined according to the age of the party at the time of the lapse of the premium, and the assumptions of mortality and interest aforesaid.

SECTION 2.—If the death of the party occur within the term of temporary insurance covered by the value of the policy, as determined in the previous section, and if no condition of the insurance, other than the payment of premium shall have been violated by the insured, the company shall be bound to pay the amount of the policy the same as if there had been no lapse of premium, anything in the policy to the contrary notwithstanding: provided, however, that notice of the claim and proof of the death shall be submitted to the company within ninety days after decease; and provided, also, that the company shall have the right to deduct from the amount insured in the policy the amount at six per cent. per annum of the premiums that had been forborne at the time of the death.

The Rainy Day.

The day is cold, and dark, and dreary;
It rains, and the wind is never weary;
The vine still clings to the moldering wall,
But at every gust the dead leaves fall,
And the day is dark and dreary.

My life is cold, and dark, and dreary;
It rains, and the wind is never weary;
My thoughts still cling to the moldering past,
But the hopes of youth fall thick in the blast,
And the days are dark and dreary.

Be still, sad heart! and cease repining;
Behind the clouds is the sun still shining;
Thy fate is the common fate of all,
Into each life some rain must fall,
Some days must be dark and dreary.

A LITTLE BOY about five years of age was sent to a grocery store on some trifling errand, and while there his bright eyes lighted upon a barrel of beautiful pippins exposed temptingly to view just outside the door. In going out he took one and returned to his mother munching it.

"Where did you get that nice apple, William?" inquired the mother.

"Dot it at de docery," replied the young boy.

"Did the man give it to you?"

"No, I took it."

"Why, my son, that was naughty, you should not take apples or anything else without permission."

"But no one saw me."

"Oh, yes, my son, there was one who saw you."

"Who?"

"Why, God saw you."

The boy stopped a moment to consider, and then, with a good deal of satisfaction expressed in his face, replied:

"No, he didn't ma, there was an awning over the store."

DIGGING FOR MONEY.—"What are you digging for?"

"I am digging for money."

The news fled—idlers collected.

"We are told you are digging for money?"

"Well, I ain't digging for anything else."

"Have you any luck?"

"First rate luck—pays very well—you had better take hold."

All doffed their coats and laid hold vigorously for a time. After throwing out some cart loads, the question arose:

"When did you get any money?"

"Last Saturday night."

"Why, how much did you get?"

"Four dollars and a half."

"Why, that's rather small!"

"It's pretty well—six shillings a day is the price for digging cellars, all over town."

The spades dropped and the loafers disappeared.

A SHARP ANSWER.—"You say you know a horse from a jackass when you see them?" asked a counsel of rather a dull looking witness.

"Oh! ye-as, just so!" drawled the intended victim, gazing intently at his legal tormentor. "I know the difference and I'd never take you for a horse."

IN the family of Stephen Herrick, of Middlesex, Vt., there are three mothers, two grandmothers, one great grandmother, three daughters, two granddaughters, one great granddaughter, two wives, one widow, two husbands, two fathers, two sons-in-law, one grandfather, and one son-in-law, and only six members in the family.

THAT was a smart girl who consoled herself with the thought that the same wind which disarranged her crinoline blew dust into the eyes of the wicked young men who were standing at the corner to observe the effect. That is what may be called tempering the wind to the shown calf.

A VERMONTER once expressed his opinion of a person in the following style of classics: "I could take the little end of nothing, whittle it to a point, punch out the pith of a horse-hair, and put in forty thousand such souls as his, shake them up, and they would rattle."

I PRESSED her gentle form to me and whispered in her ear, "if, when I was far, far, far away, she'd drop for me a tear?" I paused for some cheering words, my throbbing heart to cool, and with her rosy lips she said: "Oh, Ike, you're sich a fool."

DAN CORBET bet he could jump into the Susquehanna from a bridge forty feet above the water. He won the bet, but as his body has not been found, the stake-holders don't know what to do with the money.

AN old minister, not long since, asked a woman what he could do to induce her husband to attend church. "I don't know," she replied, "unless you were to put a pipe and jug of whisky in the pew."

THE NEW

WEED

SEWING MACHINE!

Just completed, in SOLID STEEL MACHINERY, and combining in ONE the good of ALL!

This most enterprising Company has certainly brought out

THE BEST SEWING MACHINE EVER MADE!

And indeed is the ONLY NEW Sewing Machine, of any name, manufactured for the last eight years. Even a superficial observer can easily see that it surpasses all others, at least in the simplicity and durability of its machinery, and its remarkable

EASE OF MOTION AND MANAGEMENT.

It has few pieces, and all of steel. It makes the complete "Lock Stitch," the same on both sides, which will not ravel. Every Machine is warranted to sew from and of course can never be got out of order by "hard sewing." ☞ All repairs free of charge. Prices same as others.

Thinest Lace, to Double Harness Leather!

PLEASE NOTICE.

The claims of the Florence Company for the First Premium at the great Paris Exposition of 1867, though seeming true in letter, is really false in spirit and intent, and calculated greatly to deceive the public. Although it did receive the Silver Medal—that being the highest award given—it was not awarded the FIRST RANK! This was awarded the Weed Sewing Machine, and to the WEED only, as being "first in the order of merit." The second place was given to an European Machine, and only the third to the Florence! But the claim of the Wheeler & Wilson Company, at this Fair, is a great outrage, both as to letter and spirit; at least so much of it as pertains to their Gold Medal upon their Family Machine, which, to speak plain, is purely imaginary, they having received—as is well known—their Gold Medal on their "Button-hole Machine," but nothing at all on their "Family Machine;" not even a bronze medal, nor indeed (what is worse) even an "honorable mention." (See official report.) See also, as to the new WEED Sewing Machine, the returns of the State Fairs of Pennsylvania, Illinois, New Hampshire and New York, for 1867, at each of which the NEW WEED "F. F." Sewing Machine was pronounced the BEST, and received the highest premium given. And so also at other Fairs, and indeed wherever the Company shall choose to exhibit the "strong points" of this really magnificent Machine.

FAMILY

SEWING MACHINE!

Over 82 Competitors,

—AT THE—

Great Paris Exposition, 1867,

Being the highest honors and all the Gold Medals awarded to any Sewing Machine Company at this Exposition.

As a HOLIDAY Present, Nothing will be more appreciated THAN ONE OF these MACHINES.

America, England and France, now unite in this grand Proclamation:

Good news! good news the cable brings,
O'er all the wires it flies,
Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machine
Brings back the golden prize.

Our "Uncle Sam" first struck the note,
"John Bull" then caught the sound;
Now comes from France the echo back,
Wheeler & Wilson's crowned.

And now, no more the people doubt,
So long its stood the test—
The thing is fairly noised about
And they will buy the best.

☞ We can now supply those who wish to purchase STODDARD'S PATENT TUCK-MARKER, one of the most useful attachments to the Machine yet invented; which, while sewing one tuck, makes the line of marks for the next.

A FEW SELECTIONS

From a Mass of Testimony now on File.

NEWARK, Licking Co., Ohio, August 19th, 1867.

MESSRS. HOSTETTER & SMITH—Gents: My wife having received so much benefit from the use of your Bitters, I deem it my duty to give testimony in their favor. About one and a half years since, she had a severe attack of Dysentery or Bloody Flux, which became chronic and continued for the above period of time, baffling the most skillful physicians in the country. We finally became discouraged, and gave up all hopes of her recovery, when, by accident, my attention was called to your most valuable Bitters by Messrs. Collins & Thurston, druggists, handing me one of your Almanacs. Finding them recommended for Bloody Flux, I bought one bottle and commenced giving according to directions; and before one-third of the bottle had been taken she was entirely cured, and enjoys perfectly good health at this time.

Most respectfully yours, W. D. NUTTER.

BRANCHVILLE, Ala., March 14th, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.—Dear Sirs: I am hardly able to express my gratitude for the benefit I have derived from the use of your Stomach Bitters. I have been afflicted with Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia for more than five years, from which I have suffered no little. My physicians failed to give me permanent relief. I became melancholy and unhappy; my constitution was much broken down by using mercury. Accidentally meeting with one of your Almanacs, it induced me to procure a few bottles of your Bitters, which afforded me very great relief, and it is my sincere opinion that they will soon effect a permanent cure. I was pronounced incurable, and my recovery through your Bitters will be little short of a miracle. My neighbors express surprise at seeing me so much improved in health, and look upon my rapid recovery as wonderful. Gratefully yours, ROBERT F. NEWTON, P. M.

TURNER, Androscoggin Co., Me., Feb. 22, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents: I lost my health in the army, am a great sufferer from dyspepsia and other complaints. I have commenced taking your Bitters, and fully believe they have done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken before. Yours respectfully, B. J. HOOD.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 16, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.—Gents: I have sold your Bitters for the past ten years, part of the time in a malarious district of Mississippi. Have used them myself as a protective and cure for chills, and I have known many others to do so with perfect satisfaction. I take great pleasure in recommending "Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" to the public. Very respectfully, A. G. PARKER,
Of Parker & Yorstman, cor. Center ave. and Chestnut street.

HELENA, Montana Territory, July 6, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.—Gents: We have sold your Bitters for three years in this Territory, and can truly say it is one of the most popular and valuable remedies. There is no one preparation that has a larger sale, or that gives more general satisfaction in this locality. Yours, &c.,
PARCHEN & PAYNTER, Druggists.

CHENOA, Ill., Oct. 25, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents: We have sold your Bitters for 16 years. We have found it to give universal satisfaction. We sell more of it than any other Bitters, and take pleasure in recommending it to the public.

Yours respectfully, MILLER & BOSTOCK.

SPRAKER'S BASIN, July 19th, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents: I have been afflicted with Scrofulous and Bilious Complaints for a long time, and physicians could give me no relief. By the advice of your agent I purchased a bottle of your Stomach Bitters, and, strange to say, one bottle cured me entirely. I would recommend it to all who are afflicted in the same way. Respectfully yours,
SALMON ALLEN.

SALEM, Ohio, May 1, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents: I have prescribed your Bitters in a great number of cases of Dyspepsia, and as a Tonic in cases of general debility, and have found it to answer the most sanguine expectations. Respectfully,
S. D. HARDMAN, M. D.,
Formerly Physician to the Cincinnati Marine Hospital; Member of the London Medical Society of Observation, &c.

P. S.—I send you the above voluntarily, and you may use it as you desire.

SPRAKER'S BASIN, July 29th, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents: For the past two years I have been afflicted with Chronic Disease and weak stomach. I have tried a great many medicines, but I have received no benefit. I was at last advised to try your celebrated Stomach Bitters, and to my great astonishment it has entirely relieved me. I have recommended it to others, and it has always given perfect satisfaction. JOEL O'BRIEN.

The above writer is personally known to me, and I can vouch for the correctness of his statement. HENRY COHEN,
Postmaster, Spraker's Basin.

ANDERSON C. H., S. C., April 22, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.—Gents: About the 15th of December last, I had a severe attack of Rheumatism, which debilitated my frame so much that I was reduced to a mere skeleton. I was recommended by my cousin J. J. Baker, to try a bottle of your celebrated Bitters. I did so, and must confess that I am now in good health, and attribute it entirely to your Genuine Bitters. Very truly yours,
JOHN DAVIS, jr.

KENTON, Hardin Co., Ohio, March 8, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents: I have been using your Bitters for the last ten or twelve years, and confidently say they are all you recommend them to be. So necessary have I found them to my health that I cannot do without them. Yours respectfully,
LEWIS A. MILLER.

VIRGINIA CITY, Montana Ter., July 6, 1867.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa.—Gents: I have been severely afflicted with Heartburn and Dyspepsia, and have tried almost all remedies, but without avail. Finally I was recommended to try your Stomach Bitters. I did so, and, after using a few bottles, was entirely restored to health. I now weigh 180 pounds.

I still continue to take your Bitters, and would not be without them. I consider them the only efficacious remedy of the kind in the market. When taken as directed, they will always prove a sovereign remedy to those afflicted with Dyspepsia or diseases of a like nature. Respectfully yours, M. MARX.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents—It is with the greatest pleasure that I recommend your Stomach Bitters to the public. I think it the best Bitters of the day. It is especially adapted to the South and West, where biliary derangements of the liver are prevalent. Ten years' experience in the use of compounds as curatives compels me to give your Bitters the preference that its popularity merits.

A. ANGLE, M. D.
GALLATIA, Saline Co., Ill.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gentlemen—I have practiced medicine for many years, and have used your Bitters in a number of cases with great success, and take pleasure in recommending them to the public in general.

Very respectfully, J. SMITH, M. D.

MATTOON, Ill., Jan. 21, 1865.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gentlemen—I sell more of your Stomach Bitters than of any other medicine. Parties who have tried them speak in very high praise of their excellent virtues. I have used them myself, and prescribe them with unparalleled success. Very respectfully yours, G. T. GILNER, M. D.

N. B.—The genuine Bitters are sold in bottles only. All persons who pretend to sell the article by the gallon or barrel are imposters, and the stuff they offer is a worthless and probably poisonous counterfeit.
